Cloud Backup Is Only Half the Job

What Cloud Backup Does

- Protects files if a device fails or is lost
- Guards against hardware damage or theft
- Keeps your data safe and recoverable

What It Doesn't Do

- Tells your family which cloud service to check
- Provides the account username or password
- Explains how account recovery is set up
- Shows anyone where to even start

A backup protects the data. A DEP plan protects access to it.

The "Deer in the Headlights" Problem

One account has quietly become the key to your entire digital life — controlling passwords, email, photos, devices, and more.

Apple Account

- iCloud files & iPhone backups
- App Store & Apple Pay
- Password keychain

Google Account

- Gmail, Drive & Photos
- Android devices & Chrome
- YouTube & saved passwords

Microsoft Account

- OneDrive & Outlook email
- Windows login & Office apps
- Xbox & linked services

 Know your Main Account, its password, and how to recover it — this single step unlocks almost everything.

Passwords Need a Failsafe

Digital: Convenience

- Autofills passwords instantly
- Generates strong, unique passwords
- Syncs across all your devices
- Fast, secure, and modern

Analog: Contingency

- No device or internet required
- Always accessible at home
- Easy for anyone to understand
- Great independent backup

Update it immediately when something changes — an outdated record can send someone in the wrong direction at the worst possible time.

Leave a Map

Someone you trust should know where to start if they ever need to step in.

Your Primary Account

- Apple, Google, or Microsoft — whichever is central
- Where recovery info is stored

Where Files Live

- The cloud service holding documents, photos, and records

The Password Record

- Physical location of your secure account book
- How to access it

Who to Call for Help

- A trusted, tech-savvy contact who can assist

 Don't leave a scavenger hunt. Leave a map.

Think Beyond Passwords

Document what someone would need to run the household across three areas of your digital life.

Digital Life

- Email accounts
- Photos & documents
- Cloud storage services

Household Accounts

- Utilities & Internet / Wi-Fi
- Mobile phone plans
- Streaming & smart-home accounts

Important Business

- Banking & bill-pay accounts
- Insurance & medical portals
- Tax documents & essential accounts

Document what matters most — not everything.

Your DEP Checkup

Answer honestly — any "No" is your starting point.

Account & Access

- ☐ I know my Main Account and password
- ☐ My recovery phone and email are current
- ☐ I know where my important files are stored

Your Record & Your People

- ☐ I have a password and account record
- ☐ It's current and stored securely
- ☐ A trusted person knows where it is
- ☐ They'd know where to start

 A few "No" answers just means you have a clear checklist — pick one and begin.

The RGE Takeaway

The best system isn't the fanciest — it's the one that works when something goes wrong.

Protect the Data

- Back up to the cloud
- Know which service holds what

Protect Access

- Keep a secure, current record
- Digital + analog backup

Leave a Map

- One trusted person should know where to start
- Before they need to

Because the people who depend on you deserve a clear path forward.

Key Takeaways

- Cloud backup doesn't guarantee family access
- One main account controls most of your digital life
- Use a password manager — with a written backup
- Keep your password record current
- Leave a map for one trusted person
- Document accounts beyond just passwords
- Every "No" on the DEP Checkup is a starting point
- The best system works when something goes wrong

Start with one step — your family will thank you.
